

Wines by the Glass

Featured wine

Phillips Hill Winery is located a chilly ten miles from the Pacific Ocean on Greenwood Ridge above the Anderson Valley in Mendocino County. Founded by owner and winemaker Toby Hill in 2002 as a way to transform his art from visual to sensory, he has created wines with finesse, elegance and energy rather than power. Boontling, the language invented in Boonville, CA in the early 1900's by children as a means of speaking freely in front of their elders without being understood, is now mostly spoken by aging counter-culturalists and native Anderson Valley residents. Boontling, the Pinot Noir, is a medium-bodied wine with floral scents, hints of red fruit, dark cherry, strawberry, and woody forest floor nose sipped by the above mentioned counter-culturalists and oenophiles everywhere.
