

Wines by the Glass

Featured wine

A stone's throw from Barbaresco's village center, the winery and its vineyards were founded by Giovanni Giordano in the 1930s during a time of profound crisis in the Italian wine world. After a period of growing and selling grapes, Giovanni's son, Luigi, made the bold decision to vinify his own grapes in 1960. Luigi Giordano is now a fourth-generation winery whose vineyards are planted in some of Barbaresco's most prestigious crus, including Asili and Montestefano.

Giordano's Langhe Rosso is a co-fermented blend of Nebbiolo (90%) and Arneis from vineyards situated within the Barbaresco zone. A transparent, orange-tinged garnet in the glass, it reveals elegant aromas of rose petals, pie cherries, plums, fresh fennel, and Chinese five spice. Light, bright, and energetic on the palate, Giordano's Rosso delicately unfurls red cherry and raspberry fruit accented by notes of red currants, pomegranate seeds, tobacco, licorice, and botanical herbs. The Arneis seems to soften the Nebbiolo's stern nature, and the duet harmonizes beautifully on the palate with a deftness that makes this wine irresistible and eminently gulpable. Conveying a wonderful textural juxtaposition among floral, juicy, bitter and salty sensations, Giordano's Rosso will prove immensely versatile at the table.
